

Childlife Newsletter – IJM & Niki Taylor visit

On the 24th of August 2005 Childlife was visited by some very important guests. The heads of the IJM (International Justice Mission) came to Childlife and brought along with them world famous US super model Niki Taylor. They came in order to learn more about Childlife and the situation at the Thai-Burma border. The International Justice Mission is a non-profit human rights organization that monitors conditions of abuse and oppression of trafficking victims, and mobilizes intervention on their behalf. Niki Taylor and the IJM plan to help women and children at risk in North Thailand.

Khun Taylor with some of the Akha children at Childlife.

Khun Taylor and the children listening to a lecture by Kru Ngaow (Childlife director) about the history and issues at the Thai-Burma border.

The children performing traditional Ahka dance.

Krun Andrey Sawchenko Director of International Justice Mission Thailand.

Khun Andrey and Khun Penny from IJM Washington US speaking with Kru Ngaow.

Khun Jiab, Kru Ngaow, Khun Taylor and Khun Penny

Khun Taylor with the children in the small Childlife office. Taylor told the children that she hopes to come back again soon.

Together we will fight oppression and stand up for the human rights of all children!

Guljohn Jeamram - Childlife Director.

1st September 2005.

Contact: Baannana Childlife
Post Box 35 Maesai District
Chiangrai Province 57130 Thailand
Office: +66 (0) 53 732 947
Mobile: +66 (0) 9 191 2947
ngaowbeggar@yahoo.com
www.childlife-maesai.org